

Revision on Informal Letter

Types of letters

- Informal letter
- Formal letter
- Semi-formal letter

Informal letter: Informal letters are letters written to friends, family and loved ones. The language used in this type of letters are informal. That is, it makes use of flowery languages that are generally understood. In informal letters you can abbreviate or shorten words like M.S.S Maitama – If you don't want to write it in full like Model Secondary school, Maitama. Contraction of words are also allowed like don't, it's, etc.

Also, mind the non-grammatical aspects of English language which is very important. They are capitalization, spellings, punctuations, and paragraphing. These areas might look insignificant in writing but very important because it can cause much havoc to your writing.

THE FEATURES OF AN INFORMAL LETTER

1. The writer's address at the top right hand side of the paper in straight or slanting form. It means we have just one address in informal letters. If you know or can remember how to put the punctuations at the address do it, if not leave it, you are also correct.
2. Date immediately after the writer's address.
3. Salutation depending on whom you are writing to – E.g, My dearest mum, Dear Nkem. And there must be comma (,).
4. Body of the letter which must be in paragraphs observing your punctuations, spellings, capitalization, grammar, etc.
5. Complimentary close or subscription – Yours sincerely, your name alone.
